Welcome to the Approaching Residencies (SCH5454) module.

Approaching Residencies is a grounding in methods and concepts to support collaborative practice and inter-transdisciplinary engagement with complexity. Using the Dartington estate as a residency focus, this module is an introduction to the history, theory and practice of art making in residency contexts. Techniques for engaging with site and community in relation to your own practice are developed.

A range of residency models are explored including creating time and space for artists, production focused, themed, nomadic, virtual, cross-cultural, collaborative. Residencies offer opportunities for artists to create new work, interact with communities, places and issues, build audiences and profile, earn an income. They are of value to both host and artist. They might take place in arts-specific organisations or in non-art organisations. They might involve working to a brief on a theme, working with a particular group, such as children, refugees, people with dementia, or adults with learning difficulties. Students engage with the history, theory and practice of making art in residency contexts and undertake one case study selected from a range of international artists’ residency projects studied (1,000 words) and one creative text to accompany the site-specific work (1,000 words). They will explore the complexities of place and make creative responses to that enquiry.

This module will use the Dartington estate as a ‘residency’ in which students explore and develop techniques for engaging with site and community in relation to their own practice. Students will pursue studio-based development of a project proposal as an outcome of the residency, which may involve, for examples, the development of drawings, models, prototypes, pilot performance, compositions, creative text, curated events. Students are encouraged to develop a residency project in collaboration, either with the whole class or with one or more members of the class. Students will participate in group feedback sessions with peers and tutors. Students will begin individual or group blogs, which they will maintain throughout their study.

Students are expected to take full responsibility for their learning, attend all scheduled sessions, read appropriate indicated readings, and work on set exercises (formative and summative assessment).

Based on previous experience; students who failed to attend sessions are likely to be unsuccessful or show poor performance. Please ensure that you are engaging with the content and learning activities relating to this module.

Note that there are amendments to this module teaching delivery and assessments in this academic year due to the coronavirus crisis. The module style is blended learning which is delivered partially online. Students are responsible for ensuring that you have the necessary computer equipment, software and wifi signal to participate fully online.
All times given are UK timezone. All sessions for this module are either onsite at Dartington or online. Where no time is given, you can work through the tasks at your own pace.

SEE MODULE TIMETABLE

*Individual tutorial time slots can be booked with your individual tutor.

Whilst we will always do our best to avoid any timetable changes, the schedule may be subject to change due to unforeseen events such as staff illness.

The Programme Handbook is available at:
https://www.dartington.org/about/learning/resources-for-students/

A copy of this Module Handbook is available online on the Oral Thought DLE site. Online teaching is delivered via the University of Plymouth DLE.

University of Plymouth Library:

You will receive a Dartington Library card and introduction in Module 1.

The Module Assessment Feedback Form is on the Arts & Place DLE site.

This module will be assessed by: Dr Tine Bech and Dr Jo Joelson

ASSIGNMENTS

WEEK ONE - Develop a short (500-word) site-specific proposal responding to Dartington as a site, or a fictional, imagined, or theoretical project to be realised virtually. Outline how you intend to develop this over the module.

WEEK TWO - Write a Case Study (1,000 word) about an artist or artists’ residency based project / site based project. This may be a historic or a contemporary practice.

WEEK THREE - Explore a creative ritual and how it might stimulate / support your practice. Articulate in a short text or map this visually.

WEEK FOUR - Write an accompanying (1,000 word) text for your site-specific project - this could take the form of a short story (fiction or non-fiction), a script, a poem, a daily diary or journal or a synopsis of your enquiry.
WEEK FIVE - Choose methods to visually / textually document your process and present your work in progress.

WEEK SIX - Prepare final outputs on a platform of your choice (live/archived, blogs, online/virtual/physical exhibitions, radio or sound streaming, publishing, mail-art).

CREATIVE WORK

Your creative work in progress is assessed in weekly group sessions and tutorials and during the presentation and feedback session on Friday 28 May.

Assignment Deadlines: 5pm Thursday 29 April; 5pm Thursday 13 May; Friday 28 May.

Your written assignments should be uploaded to the DLE:
1 x 1,000-word case study (29 April) and 1 x 1,000-word text (13 May).

Marks (provisional until confirmed by a Subject Assessment Panel) and feedback are available to you 20 days after submission on the DLE.

| LO2: Articulate a comprehensive understanding of relationship between arts and place, or curatorial practice. |
| LO3: Evidence an ability to develop and present a creative response to ‘being in residence’ at Dartington. |
| LO4: Demonstrate desk research and critical writing skills, along with fieldwork and documentation skills. |
| LO5: Demonstrate the development of creative practice skills. |
| LO6: Evidence the development of collaborative working skills with other students and with other people encountered in residence. |

| Fail: 0 – 49% | Pass: 50 – 59% | Merit: 60 – 69% | Distinction: 70 – 100% |
| Does not demonstrate sufficient understanding. | Demonstrates partial understanding, and engagement with the areas of the learning outcomes. | Demonstrates a sound understanding and engagement with the areas of the learning outcomes. | Demonstrates excellent critical understanding and engagement, drawing from relevant discourses. |
If your participation in an examination or assessment has been affected by an extenuating circumstance, then you can ask the University to take this into consideration. You can submit a claim for extenuating circumstances to cover late submission of work, non-submission of work or non-attendance at a time specific assessment, such as an examination, test presentation or performance, or field class.

Information regarding the Extenuating Circumstances policy and how and where to submit Extenuating Circumstance Claims are available here:

Where there are no valid extenuating circumstances, the following regulations will automatically apply:

- Work submitted after the deadline date/time but within 24 hours of it, will be capped at the pass mark 50%.
- Work submitted 24 hours after the deadline will receive a mark of zero.

Please notify the programme & module leader of any extenuating circumstances as soon as possible.

You will be assigned and meet your personal tutor in Welcome Week and towards the end of Term 1. Please do contact them in the first instance if you have any concerns and worries both of an academic or personal nature and they will be able to assist you with academic concerns and direct you to support for other issues.

The Student Support Officer is Oona Wagstaff

oona.wagstaff@dartington.org

Please notify the programme and module leader of any modified assessment provision required as soon as possible.
Referencing Protocols and Academic Offences

Dartington Arts School uses the Harvard referencing system. Guidance is on the DLE.

When writing a report, case study, essay or dissertation you are expected to fully reference the materials you have used. It should be your own work, in your own words.

Plagiarism is an offence under the University regulations on examination and assessment offences. It is important that you familiarise yourself with what constitutes plagiarism, and academic offences. Further information can be found:
